

DECEMBER 2017

mayfair times

JEWELLERY SPECIAL featuring Louisa Guinness PLUS: Mick Fleetwood, Prosper Assouline and Michelle Mone

WISHLIST

MOVERS AND CHOKERS —

An exciting collaboration between luxury jewellery brand Messika and supermodel Gigi Hadid has resulted in a stunning new collection, to celebrate the 10th anniversary of its iconic Move collection. The 12-piece collection includes an 18ct gold and diamond Move Addiction ring and choker. Able to be worn as solo pieces or all together for a stronger punk look, Messika by Gigi Hadid is where haute couture meets rebel chic. Mappin & Webb, 132 Regent Street, ring £9,470, choker POA

MUSIC TO YOUR EARS —

The innovative Music Box will make a great Christmas gift this year. Complete with a bottle of Lanson White Label, Non Vintage Champagne 75cl, the limited-edition pieces received the 2017 Formes de Luxe Award in the metal category at the Luxe Pack Exhibition in Monaco. Once you've consumed either bottle of this fine champagne, the packaging transforms into a music player. Put your smartphone into the deck on the lid to listen to your music playlists. Continuing the music theme, the Mayfair-based champagne house has just renewed its five-year deal with The O2, enabling the venue's nine million annual visitors to sample the company's vast range of champagnes. There will also be a Lanson-branded champagne bar.

Sainsbury's, 38 Stratton Street, £27

BUTTERFLY EFFECT—

The stunning, limited-edition Soror Sapphire Ring is a collaboration between esteemed jewellery designer Anabela Chan and women's private member's club, The Sorority. This cocktail ring is made of 18-carat rose gold and black gold vermeil, hand-set with laboratory-grown gemstones including 16-carat oval pink sapphire, with pave-set emeralds, violet amethysts, blue topaz, orange and yellow sapphires, olive tourmalines and white diamonds. Featuring butterflies symbolising freedom, just 50 of these rings have been made, alongside one other ring, also limited-edition.

Anabela Chan Joaillerie, 6 Denman Place, £1,490

MAN ABOUT TOWN—

Momentum Night Edition is the new Bentley fragrance designed exclusively for Harrods. Designed for the successful, style-conscious man who is always on the move, perfumer Mylène Alran has used contrasting spices and woods with a heart of violet absolute, vetiver and cedarwood, and a base of sandalwood, patchouli and papyrus. With a bottle design inspired by a metropolis' skyline, in matte black with a metal cap, this fragrance emanates a man's quest for excellence.

Harrods, 87-135 Brompton Road, £110 for 100ml

PRESENT AND CORRECT—

For the first time, the revered café-restaurant The Wolseley is offering a selection of gifts in a Christmas hamper. It contains the finest selection of champagne including a boxed Pommery Brut Royal NV, wines such as The Wolseley Sancerre 2016, chocolate, truffles, biscuits and preserves. There is also luxury kitchenware including a silver-plated tea strainer, a cafetière and filter coffee tin, plus festive goodies such as six Christmas crackers and Breakfast At The Wolseley book by A.A. Gill.

thewolseley.com/theshop, £350